Lewistown, MT ---- The Bureau of Land Management's Central Montana Resource Advisory Council meeting scheduled for Wednesday, January 28, has been cancelled.

The meeting was to have been held in the BLM's Lewistown Field Office. However, after polling council members early Tuesday morning, it became apparent that because of the unsafe travel conditions (drifting snow, icy roads, poor visibility and dangerously low temperatures) throughout central Montana, a quorum would not be able to attend.

The meeting was to have been an opportunity for council members to consider different alternatives for the access and transportation portions of the draft resource management plan being prepared for the Upper Missouri River Breaks National Monument.

There are no immediate plans to reschedule this meeting.
